Dear Colleague,

As you may be aware, over the last year we have seen several substantial increases in the price of raw materials, as well as rising costs for transport and fuel.

We are now in a position where we have absorbed these increases for as long as possible and regrettably need to advise that as of 1st January 2005 the price of Dolav products will change.

We will be issuing a new price list for 2005 in the next few days.

Along with everyone else, we are completely committed to improving our own efficiencies and we will continue to provide high quality Dolav products, to the standard that is expected from our World Class range.

Yours sincerely

Nachum Shaham
